I've never seen a dog here before. (Eggsalt) A dog? I don't know, I don't know. (New Year's) I saw a dog recently, but it didn't look like he wanted to eat ham. (New Year's) I've heard that a dog who loved a sandwich. (New Year's) Looking for a dog? How are you going to find him? (Tuna) I saw a dog, it's this very happy when I gave him a boiled egg! (Boiled eggs) I know some dogs, like candy. (No, no, no, I don't think dogs eat salami. (New Year's) I saw a dog licking honey. (New Year's Day) A dog who likes a sandwich? I wonder what bread likes. (New Year's) The dog can come back if it smells good. (Sardinia) Sesame is good for health, and it even smells good. I'm sure the dog likes it. (It's there) Kids hate cucumbers. I think dogs are the same. (New Year's) I heard there's a dog who likes cheese. Isn't it salty for them? (Cheddar Cheese) Basil smells really good. I think the dog can easily see it. (New York City) If the dog finds a sandwich with his favorite ingredients, then he should be happy. (New Year's Basil) Did you know onions aren't good for dogs? (New Year's) You haven't found the dog yet? What do you like to eat? (New Year's) I like cheese, but I'm worried about the salinity. I hear the cream cheese's got a little bit of salt. (Cream cheese) I don't think dogs eat vegetables. (New Year's) I think the main ingredients in sandwiches are meat or fish. What does the dog want? (Smoked turkey breast) The dog can be happy if you make a sandwich with the ingredients he likes. (Smoked salmon) There was a dog who was very happy when I gave him salmon. (New Year's) Why don't you make a sandwich that the dog likes? (Swiss cheese) Did you find the dog you were looking for?
